

BLAINE REBUKES SENATE FOR TURNING DOWN LOCAL UNION CHIEF APPOINTMENT

MOTOR CLUB NAMES MEMBERS TO DEMAND RULES ENFORCEMENT

Declare that Motor Regulations are Violated Because of Official Neglect

NO EFFORT TO ENFORCE PARKING ORDINANCE, CLAIM

Assert that Reports of Vigilante Committee Have Been Ignored

AFTER a discussion in which it was the verdict that traffic and other automobile regulations in La Crosse are generally neglected because of lack of official enforcement, directors of the Western Wisconsin Automobile club authorized the president on Thursday to name a committee to call on city and county authorities and demand strict enforcement of the rules.

President L. E. Metcalf appointed a committee of five, as follows: W. P. Roelitz, chairman; John P. Sater, W. E. Goodrich, C. H. Keller and C. A. Dittman.

"If Not, Why Not?"

In the announcement which was made public following the meeting the officials of the motor club said:

"At a meeting of the board of directors and legislative committee of the auto club on June 23 a special committee was appointed to call on the proper authorities to obtain information whether or not the present traffic ordinances will be enforced; if so, when; and if not, why not; and to report to the club at the next meeting."

The motion for appointment of the committee was made by W. P. Adams. Mr. Adams told the directors that in spite of the increasing number of accidents that have occurred in the city since spring there was an attitude of official apathy in the enforcement of automobile laws which made violations the rule.

"The chief of police," said Mr. Adams, "told us that he was anxious to enforce the regulations but that he had no proper ordinance and that he had no proper men. Now we have a parking ordinance in addition to the other state and local laws, and although it has been in effect for a week an effort has been made to enforce it. Traffic conditions down-town are just as difficult and dangerous as ever."

No action on Report

"As to men, we have furnished the department with a vigilante committee of motorists who are reporting violations all over the city. So far as I know not a single report has been acted upon. I don't believe that any of the drivers reported for violations have been even called on the corner, much less taken into court. We can't expect decent traffic conditions if the authorities will not back up citizens who are working for law observance."

Mr. Adams also said that the sheriff had failed to appoint a similar county vigilante committee to watch the country roads, although he had declared himself in favor of the idea and it had been approved by the district attorney.

"If we can't get cooperation from the authorities," he said, "we want to know it. There's no use going around with conditions as they are."

Several directors said that they believed more care in taking corners, and generally a somewhat more cautious attitude was observance among drivers as the result of the safety work publicity campaign recently staged.

SENDS KNUTSON'S NAME BACK WITH EMPHATIC MESSAGE

College Education Never Required for Public Service He Informs Senators

KNUTSON QUALIFIED FOR POST DECLARES BLAINE

Says Understanding of Problems of Labor Fits Him for Job

MADISON, Wis.—(Special.)—The action of the state senate in refusing confirmation of the appointment of R. G. Knutson, La Crosse trades union leader, to the state industrial commission, was met on Friday by Governor Blaine by sending Mr. Knutson's appointment back to the senate, accompanied by a message in which he expressed the opinion that the upper house had made a mistake when it turned down the appointment to the post on Thursday.

This is the second time this session that Governor Blaine has sent back to the senate rejected appointments. Brighton O. Webster, twice rejected, was finally confirmed after a law governing appointments had been repealed. Concerning the Knutson appointment it was reported that friends of the La Crosse labor leader had won some votes to his side that were cast against him on Thursday, and it was indicated there was a chance that the senate would reverse itself.

College Education Unnecessary

The message from the governor, accompanying the re-nomination of Mr. Knutson, declared that the opposition to confirmation of the La Crosse man "is the first time I have ever heard it suggested that a college education is necessary to equip citizens for public service." The message declared that Mr. Knutson "from my own personal observation . . . is an intelligent citizen, trained far beyond the possibility of the mere possession of a diploma."

"I submitted the name of Mr. Knutson," the message said, "because he is particularly qualified to deal with the problems constantly coming before the industrial commission, with respect to which lawyers are not trained and whose vision is sometimes dimmed by technical and unsupported theories."

"I do not perceive," said the governor, "any just cause for the rejection of Mr. Knutson simply because he happens to be a workman."

"The message in full follows: 'To the Honorable, The Senate:—'Pursuant to the statute governing I hereby nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appoint R. G. Knutson of La Crosse, Wis., to be a member of the industrial commission of Wisconsin for the term ending June 30, 1927.'

"I submitted the name of Mr. Knutson for the reason that there seems to have been some confusion and misapprehension respecting his qualifications and competency."

"I assume it is true that Mr. Knutson did not go beyond the curriculum of a common school, so far as an education is obtainable in a school."

"This is the first time that I have ever heard it suggested that a college education is necessary to equip citizens for public service."

"Had this suggestion always obtained in the history of our country, the world and humanity would have been deprived of the services of the greatest character in all the world's history since the birth of Christ. The world would have been deprived of the services and the devotion to public interest of hundreds upon hundreds of public officials who never crossed the threshold of an educational institution beyond the grades."

"I am assured by those who had every opportunity to know and from my own personal observation, that Mr. Knutson is an intelligent citizen, trained far beyond the possibility of the mere possession of a diploma."

"I also understand that a majority of the senate strenuously contended that because Mr. Knutson is a craftsman and belongs to a labor organization, that he should not be confirmed, and the point, as I understand it, attempted to be pressed against him is the recognition of labor as such and as a craft in making the nomination."

"I do not know upon what facts such contentions were based. I might, if the senate will accept my assurance, assure the senate that Mr. Knutson's appointment did not derive its inspiration upon the mere recognition of labor as a craft. I recognize the fact in nominating Mr. Knutson, that men who are trained in some crafts and who understand the problems of labor, that such men, independent of any alleged class recognition, can bring to the services of the state a knowledge and experience which others do not possess and which is very much desired in public service."

FISH RESCUE BILL PASSES LOWER HOUSE

Measure Appropriating $75,000 for Station in La Crosse is on the Road Through Congress

FAVORABLE ACTION EXPECTED IN THE SENATE VERY SOON

This City to be Headquarters for Rescue Work on the Upper River

The house has passed the bill appropriating $75,000 for the establishment of a fish rescue station at La Crosse, according to a telegram received today from John J. Esch, member of the interstate commerce commission.

Passage by the house of the La Crosse bill practically assures its concurrence by the senate at this session, banking available the appropriation this year.

When the measure is passed and the station constructed La Crosse will become the headquarters for all fish rescue work on the upper Mississippi. It is planned to locate the station at the upper end of Riverside park.

Superintendent Cutler, in charge of fish rescue work, and Congressman Esch worked for two years to get this measure through congress. Mr. Esch has continued his interest in the bill since becoming a member of the interstate commerce commission, and it was largely as a result of his influence that favorable action was obtained in the house this session.

Mr. Esch some time ago received assurance from Senator La Follette that the would make every effort to have speedy action taken on the La Crosse bill in the senate, and passage of the bill in the upper house may be anticipated within a month.

EX-SERVICE MEN TO HOLD THIRD ANNUAL CONVENTION IN JULY

Convention to be Held at Eau Claire Beginning on Monday, July 27

BY W. C. STREHL

The finishing touches are being put for arrangements of the third annual convention of ex-service men in Wisconsin, to be held in Eau Claire, beginning Monday, June 27.

It will be worth the time of any member to attend. Posts are urged to send as large delegations as they possibly can. Every member going to the convention must have his official membership card with him, as the American Legion Union, alone, will not admit a member to the various doings at the convention.

The convention takes place at Eau Claire starting Monday, June 27, and lasts until Thursday, June 30. Eau Claire is just 94 miles from La Crosse and the roads are in fine condition. It is hoped that many of the La Crosse Legionnaires will attend at least one day of the convention.

There will be a big military parade on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock which is expected to be one of the largest since the war ended. The outlook is that there will be at least six thousand Legionnaires from around the state in attendance at the convention on Tuesday, which will be the big day.

Any members wishing to get information in regards to the convention may do so by getting in touch with William C. Strehl, post commander, of E. F. Schultz, post adjutant, at 203 Main street.

ASSEMBLY OVERTURNS PLAN TO ADJOURN

WOMEN DELEGATES ASK EQUAL RIGHTS IN LABOR UNIONS

Election of Officers and Other Important Business on Federation Program

CANDIDATES CANNOT MAKE LABOR PLATFORM—GOMPERS

Federation Writes its Own Platform, Says President

DENVER, Col.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor Friday unanimously rejected a proposal by the Central Labor council of Seattle, Wash., for a nation-wide campaign to establish a maximum 6-hour day and abolish all overtime in industry.

DENVER, Col.—Election of officers, the demand of women for equal rights and privileges in all labor unions, determination of future relationships with European union movements and jurisdictional disputes are the major issues still confronting the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor. Although the convention had been in session nearly two weeks an unusual volume of work remains. Night sessions are probable so all business can be transacted by Sunday morning.

The election of officers will be held on the last day.

The committee on international relations will report unfavorably the two resolutions submitted to the convention by the International Association of Machinists and the Firemen and Oilers' union demanding that President Gompers immediately be instructed to reaffiliate the federation with the international federation of trades unions.

The women delegates have united to support a resolution which would amend the federation's constitution so to give them all the privileges of membership in the union of their trade or industry.

If they are denied membership in any union they ask the right to obtain a separate charter from the convention.

Can't Write Platform

The announcement by John L. Lewis of the platform on which he is running for the presidency of the federation, brought a statement today from President Gompers, who declared "it is not the right or the privilege of any individual to make a platform in the labor movement."

Mr. Lewis in his announcement yesterday declared for nationalization of the mines, government control of the railroads and other "progressive policies."

"I am well enough known to the wage earners," said Mr. Gompers, "as having been faithful in the cause of the protection of their rights to make it unnecessary to announce a declaration of the principles upon which I stand."

"Under the principles adopted the American Federation of Labor has advanced further than any other labor movement in the history of the world."

"The American Federation of Labor writes its own platform. No individual has the right to formulate its platform."

"The duty of a leader is to stand by his organization and its declarations and principles, and not run away from any crisis no matter what it may involve."

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES REACH AGREEMENT ON HOME BREW CLAUSE OF DRY BILL

ILLUSTRATED TALK GIVEN BY SALVATION ARMY SPEAKER HERE

Captain George Wilson Shows Pictures and Slides of Salvation Army Work

ACTUAL CONDITIONS IN SLUM DISTRICTS SHOWN

Work of Salvation Army at Home and Abroad Pictured

Showing three reels of pictures together with sixty-eight slides, Captain George Wilson, special efforts secretary of the Salvation Army home service program of Wisconsin, gave an interesting lecture on the work which has been done and which is being carried on by the Salvation Army at the present time, at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday night.

Three reels of pictures were shown by special equipment carried by Captain Wilson. Two reels, entitled, "Moulding the Militant," dealt with the training and making of Salvation Army officers. The third reel, entitled, "Service—That's All," pictured the work of the Salvation Army in the various parts of the world, at home and abroad.

Captain Wilson's illustrated lecture dealt principally with Salvation Army state institutions, including the girls' rescue homes, maternity hospitals, men's industrial homes, children's orphanages, homes for dependent children and boarding schools for girls.

The speaker declared that the Salvation Army maintains twenty-six boarding schools for girls who come to the cities and earn insufficient wages to cope with the high cost of living. Girls coming from the rural districts into the cities looking for employment are accommodated in these boarding schools. He stated that there were twenty-six of these institutions kept up by the Salvation Army in the United States. The first two reels of pictures showed the training of Salvation Army Cadets at the General Booth Memorial college in New York. The daily routine of the Cadets, including bible study, lectures, recreation and street meetings held in the evenings were shown. The work of the Salvation Army in the slum districts with illustrations of actual conditions in the larger cities were pictured.

Captain Wilson told of the Salvation Army farm near San Francisco where hundreds of homeless children are taken care of until they become of age. The farm comprises 600 acres of land. Pictures of the Salvation Army fresh air camps were shown with hundreds of children taking advantage of the accommodations furnished by the organization.

The speaker explained how the county advisory board's work in conjunction with the Salvation Army in social service work.

The advisory board is a link in a chain of advisory boards throughout the entire country. The county boards co-operate with the Salvation Army in the matter of handling cases of illegitimacy, juvenile delinquency, unemployment or dependents of any nature by communicating any information of these cases to the Salvation Army headquarters. The county boards function in an advisory capacity on all major activities, such as new building projects, acquiring of additional property, and in the matter of financing.

COMPROMISE BRINGS FAVORABLE ACTION BY THE ASSEMBLY

Measure, Carrying Volstead Provision Against Home Brewing, is Passed

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin is assured of a new prohibition enforcement statute, prohibiting home brew and drastic in its provisions, unless Governor Blaine again exercises his veto, as a result of Assembly action Friday in passing the governors bill 68 to 14.

There was no doubt in the lower house when the measure shot through in a hurry, after the report of conference committee of both houses had been heard. Dry leaders said that they had a bill almost as dry as they could wish.

Following the agreement of the conference committee against home brew Thursday night, the administration members are reported to have met with the governor. He is said to have agreed at that time to sign the measure in its present form, with home brew done away with, despite his previous strong stand in vetoing the Madison bill, largely because it prohibited the manufacture of intoxicating liquor in the home.

Home Brewing Illegal

Home brewing is made illegal under provision of the agreement which will accept the exact wording of the federal Volstead act in prohibiting the "manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the state of Wisconsin for beverage purposes."

Administration senators on the committee said they thought the governor would sign his bill as amended by the agreement. This will give Wisconsin a stringent new enforcement measure.

The moonshine section of the governor's bill, particularly stressed by him in his messages to the legislature, is further strengthened by the committee to include, beside the still, mash or moonshine, as prima facie evidence of illicit manufacture.

Further amendment to be put before the two houses for acceptance will exempt appointees of the prohibition commissioner from civil service while another will make search of private dwellings illegal unless the dwelling becomes a nuisance.

Action Unexpected

The assembly action was totally unexpected, since the Hirst bill had gone to third reading by a two to one vote early in the week. It had been practically agreed that it would be rushed through to the governor today.

Assemblyman Dahl, author of various similar proposals, took the floor against the measure when it came up for reconsideration. In a speech lasting nearly an hour he flayed the proposal from every angle, declaring that it opened the way to an over-comprehensive highway program when the state was not prepared for it.

His speech swung many members who had previously stood by the finance committee in its recommendations upon acceptance of which depended their report that no additional taxes would be necessary for the coming biennium. No one defended the bill on the floor today, because of their belief that defeat of consideration was certain.

NEW WARRANT IS ISSUED BY BRINDLEY AGAINST CHURCHILL

Reckless Driving Charge Will be Heard in County Court; May be Arraigned Today

A warrant charging him with reckless driving has been issued by County Judge Brindley against Charles S. Churchill, driver of a big touring car that crashed into a sedan occupied by several sisters and then careened to one side and smashed a telephone pole at Twelfth street and Morrison county road Monday night. Churchill was arraigned in police court Thursday and the charge against him dismissed. He was taken to county court for arraignment but as the district attorney had not been informed of that move, the court refused to go on with the case until the prosecutor was present. Later Judge Brindley caused the new warrant to be issued. The case may be called into today.

DIES IN REFRIGERATOR CAR

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Imprisoned in a refrigerator car, a man supposed to be Joseph Kroski was suffocated when he tried to make his escape by setting fire to his prison. The remains were found when the car was opened here Thursday. The only means of identification was the name marked on one end of a suitcase found in the same car. It is supposed he had been in the car since June 4, when it was locked at Milton Junction but when the accident happened is not known. There were no papers to indicate the man's home.

KILLS MEASURE TO RAISE FUND FOR ROAD WORK

Assembly Throws a Monkey-wrench into the Legislative Machinery by Turning Down Hirst Bill

HAD PLANNED TO CLEAN UP WORK OF SESSION TODAY

Continued Session or Special Term Will be Necessary to Provide More Funds

MADISON, Wis.—The legislative program was thrown into turmoil Friday when the assembly, in what it was agreed would be the closing hours of the session, reconsidered its vote on the Hirst Highway privilege tax bill, and then killed the measure which would raise four million dollars annually, by a vote of 45 to 33.

This stand makes either a continued session or a special session inevitable in order that the state may be provided with funds with which to carry on its highway work. It is rumored with authenticity that the governor may now veto some of the large appropriation bills, on the ground that the revenue of the state will not be sufficient to meet the outlays which the legislature has authorized.

Action Unexpected

The assembly action was totally unexpected, since the Hirst bill had gone to third reading by a two to one vote early in the week. It had been practically agreed that it would be rushed through to the governor today.

Assemblyman Dahl, author of various similar proposals, took the floor against the measure when it came up for reconsideration. In a speech lasting nearly an hour he flayed the proposal from every angle, declaring that it opened the way to an over-comprehensive highway program when the state was not prepared for it.

His speech swung many members who had previously stood by the finance committee in its recommendations upon acceptance of which depended their report that no additional taxes would be necessary for the coming biennium. No one defended the bill on the floor today, because of their belief that defeat of consideration was certain.

Funds are available for highway construction for the present year, but it will be necessary for the state to devise means of raising money to meet the federal aid of 1922-23 which will total $2,500,000.

Legislature Conservative

The legislature has been conservative in acceptance of the program of suggested new laws. There has been an over-present disposition on the part of both houses to proceed slowly in favoring measures that would bring marked changes in the existing order of affairs.

This attitude has resulted in the rejection of most of the legislative program recommended by Governor Blaine in his first message. It has also brought about the defeat of nearly all untried proposals advanced by individual members of both houses during the session.

Most important of new legislation is the new marketing law, creating a department with broad powers over business; the committee on agriculture bill providing manufacture or sale of condensed milk from coconut oils; the Peterson bill providing for elective boards of education with authority to raise taxes.

Provide for Junior Colleges

Following close on these new laws in importance are the new junior college bill introducing a new state educational policy of decentralized opportunities for higher education by establishing college courses in high schools; the reorganization of the $1,000,000 teachers' retirement fund; the Arnold bill doubling inheritance taxes; and the revamping of corporation laws.

Appropriations will total approximately $48,000,000 exclusive of highway funds, the amount of which is not definitely known. The outlay for the coming biennium, as a result of finance committee recommendations, is not greatly in excess of that spent during the past two years.

Almost $24,000,000 of the $48,000,000 was appropriated to the University. Normal schools and the board of control, when revolving funds are included. The department of agriculture with $500,000 annually headed the list of departments in size of appropriation, while $250,000 was granted for a soldiers' memorial hospital.

Farmers' Requests Fulfilled

Farmers fared best before the present legislature which was practically at their bidding on important matters. The marketing bill, with its trade commission features, represents a victory.

CUSTER MONUMENT UNVEILED JUNE 25 IN MONTANA CITY

Ceremony Takes Place on 45th Anniversary of Battle of Little Big Horn

HARDIN, Mont.—The monument in memory of General George A. Custer, to be unveiled on June 25, the forty-fifth anniversary of the battle of the Little Big Horn, has been completed in the city park here. The memorial, paid for by popular subscription of citizens of Hardin and Big Horn counties, is of Montana gray granite and bears two bronze plates, one showing Custer's profile and the other giving the date and place of his birth and his military record.

Plans for the celebration, which will include a reproduction of the massacre of Custer's command by Indians enacted by United States cavalrymen, American Legion members and Crow Indians, provide also for an exhibit of several historical objects, it is announced by the Custer Battle anniversary association, in charge of the affair. They will include one of Custer's original regimental flags, and what is declared to be the first full-page newspaper account of the battle, published immediately after it was fought.

The battle is to be refought on the site of the original conflict, now a government reservation.

RENT LEGISLATION KILLED FOR PRESENT LEGISLATIVE TERM

MADISON, Wis.—Rent legislation was placed outside the realm of probability Thursday when the assembly voted, 41 to 47, against amending rules and taking up the Fliegel bill, which would have extended regulation to all cities of the state.

The Milwaukee law was declared unconstitutional Tuesday on the ground that the legislature could not limit its application to a single locality.

Senators refused to receive the Czerwinski bill similar to that of Assemblyman Higgins, showing their unwillingness to take up the problem.

Public Debate

ONE GOOD DRIVER

City of La Crosse, June 22, 1921. Editor, Tribune and Leader-Press: I have noticed around the city different autos and the city of La Crosse is very weak in traffic. The only good driver that I have noticed was a delivery truck and I sure do give this man credit for what he did at the corner of Fifth and Main streets. I really do not know when this man is but have asked several passersby; the only thing that I really do know, that the rear of the car had the name (Lavaque). I certainly do wish that the city of La Crosse would appreciate this car, as it is the only car that I seen (in La Crosse) that obeyed traffic rules.

Very truly yours,
A Good Traffic Man From Cleveland.
"PEP"
Editor, Tribune and Leader-Press.
Dear Sir: We are tired of talking about "the daylight" saving; so let's talk of "pep"; it's much more interesting. And speaking of "pep" we all have it nowadays, and it's a wonderful thing to possess. Life's really worth the living. The fellows that invented "daylight saving" were so full of pep, and they didn't know what else to do, having nothing else to do, so they gave it to us so that we might be benefitted by it. We have so much of it that we hate to go to bed at night, especially when the weather is so hot that we are likely to lose it. We are so full of it that we lie awake until two o'clock in the morning tossing and rolling around on our beds. Even the automobiles have it. They chase around our city streets at a rapid pace until the wee hours of the morning, and oh! how we enjoy it. Even the neighbor's dog is full of it—gets out at five or six, and barks till six a. m. and by the noise it makes you can tell it is bubbling over with it. We do not need any sleep, being full of "pep" sleep is an unnecessary evil that can be dispensed with. And when we get up in the morning we are still so full of it that we just feel like saying words we've never thought of saying before. Having about three hours of sleep we feel that that time is wasted. The children on their way to school have it, their eyes show it, and their feet are heavy with it, and we are hoping that the fellows that want to save "daylight" for us, will have enough "pep" in them that when they leave this Earth plane they will save something for the people there, but if they do, they will save a little cool temperature to go with it.

SINN FEIN AND ADMIRAL SIMS

War between England and America "is as certain, as inevitable, as was war by England against Germany; it is, at most, a question of a few years." This startling statement is uttered casually by the New York Irish World in the course of an editorial on Rear-Admiral William Sowden Sims's unflattering characterization of American Sinn-Feiners in an after-luncheon speech in London. "Think of our fate when England strikes, with men like Sims, the Anglo-Saxon, with whom blood is thicker than water, in charge of our defenses." "Sims," continues this Irish-American weekly, "says that the Irish are asses. Well, Sims has already felt the asses' heels, and, ere long, those same heels will kick the stuffings out of the mangy cat known as the British lion." A more peaceful vision of the future is seen by the Admiral, who is quoted as saying: "The English-speaking peoples are coming together in the bonds of comradeship, and they are going to run this round globe." The Admiral does not lack enthusiastic and outspoken champions in the American press. Thus the Grand Rapids News says that "Americans have permitted themselves too long to be browbeaten by a few violent Irishmen, either citizens or residents without citizenship, every time any reference is made to the Irish question. It seems we may speak about any other people or any other question, but we must handle the Irish question with gloves, we must handle it only in a manner that pleases the few violent ones. Admiral Sims had the hardihood to hit these blatant browbeaters, the courage which few of our men in public life have. He said nothing to which the American citizen of Irish extraction, who is first of all an American, can object. And it is about time some one should hit the self-appointed directors of American opinions.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week, June 25th, presents a careful and very interesting survey of public opinion in America upon the controversy raging over Admiral Sims's utterances in London.

HOPE OF SALVATION
Let us who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of hope and love, and for an helmet, the hope of salvation.—1 Thessalonians 5: 8.

Knutson and the Senate

TAKE the Knutson appointment into the light, where it can be seen from the standpoint of the general welfare. What about Knutson? What is the opposition? What will it gain? What will it lose?

As a youth Knutson lacked educational advantages. He has been part of the organized labor movement. It has been his business to plead and work for the special interests of the unions that paid him. Despite his handicaps he has risen. Like all leaders, he has won both hate and approbation, inspired both fear and confidence. Not to recognize the native ability which has made him what he is would be as blind as it would be to deny his lack of school training or to hold in contempt the wide reading to which he has disciplined himself. It is the old question of native ability and self-education against the split infinitive. The opposition to Knutson which appeared in the senate is probably a combination of politics, class distrust, and disagreement as to what qualifications should be sought in a commissioner. Doubtless groups opposed to organized labor have been heard. Some may have seen a supposed opportunity to put the governor in a hole. Others probably were actuated by the feeling that none of the groups interested in the administration of the commission's work should be represented in its membership. Joined together, these considerations were strong enough to block the confirmation of the appointment.

However, these conflicting theories are not the big things involved in the dispute, nor do they point the way to safe ground. One must take the political situation as it is into consideration.

From the moment of his election it was a foregone conclusion that Governor Blaine would name upon this commission at least one representative of the largest class especially interested in its work. Out of a wide field he chose Knutson, and one must accord to the governor some measure of care and prudence in his selection. He would not knowingly appoint an ignoramus who would make a fool of the commission, an anarchist who would hold representative government in contempt, or a narrow fellow incapable of distinguishing between the broad duty which a public official owes to the people as a whole and the special service which a group agent must perform for his organization to earn his pay. Governor Blaine studied the subject long, and doubtless acted in the belief that he had made the best available choice.

Now, what does the opposition gain? It has quickened the consciousness of class in a man on the threshold of public life, when he should have been most impressed with his status as a citizen and a servant of the state. Within a few weeks its constituents will be doing business with Commissioner R. G. Knutson. Will the quality of public service have been improved by the experience to which he has been subjected? If not, what has been gained?

Wisconsin will have to trust Mr. Knutson to be broad and public-spirited enough to ignore and forget the whole affair.

Pirates?

"Bloody Pete wiped his dripping dagger on his shirt and grinned evilly. He gestured toward the plank jutting over the hullward and two burly ruffians with their heads bound with blood-stained handkerchiefs seized our hero. Cuthbert drew himself proudly erect, seeming to show fear in the face of the buccannier."

To think that this sort of thing, that we thought as dead in this twentieth century as Captain Kidd himself, may shortly be shot through the cables or across wireless antennae as "eye-witness stuff" from a survivor of an oil-burning tramp freighter, scuttled somewhere in the Spanish Main! It doesn't seem possible, not to say probable, and yet there are these twelve ships, undeniably missing under circumstances that hint so strongly of deep-sea piracy as almost to defy any less sensational explanation. In spite of one's matter-of-fact insistence that such things don't happen any more, it begins to look as if something of the sort had actually happened.

And why not? Spanish galleons no longer sail from Panama laden with the golden treasure of the Incas, but the bales and boxes of modern commerce are a profitable substitute for pieces of eight. The half-forgotten, isolated islands of the West Indies offer as friendly hiding for desperadoes now as in the days of Blackbeard. And science, which has revolutionized ocean commerce, has furnished any man with a piratical turn the implements that must make the profession ten times as certain and lucrative as it was in the days of the "Jong, low, rakish brigantine" that "suddenly ran the Jolly Roger to the peak". Imagine Captain Kidd in a wireless cabin, picking up the position of his next victim with a radio direction and distance finder, and listening in while his unsuspecting prey innocently dots and dashes through the ether all the details necessary to successful piracy! Why, buccaneering in these days should be about on a par with robbing a blind man's cup. The wonder is, not that piracy should occur, but that men's imagination should not have discovered the modern possibilities of it long since.

And yet there are drawbacks, too—dangers which Captain Kidd could never have dreamed of. The unarmed merchantman today is no helpless dove fleeing vainly from the hawk's swoop. The same wireless which might make the pirate's search more easy also provides the quarry with a voice that will cross a thousand leagues of empty water to the seat of Justice. One wonders that but one of the twelve missing ships seems to have awakened to its danger in time to ask for aid; wonders, and guesses at what trick or stratagem a raider could employ to finish his attack so quickly and successfully as to forestall the alarm. And as one's imagination runs riot over (his most romantic story of a decade's news there comes a vision of the pursuit and punishment of this incredible descendant of Drake and Kidd, a pursuit as modern and scientific as the piracy itself must be imagined. One sees seaplanes and dirigibles hovering over an obscure islet, fast "chasers" and destroyers converging at the call of these winged scouts to be in at the death—and perhaps a short, sharp battle, ended by a shower of aerial bombs and the Jolly Roger sinking under blue waves.

All in all, this salt-flavored, piratical spiced mystery of the blue water is perhaps the most piquant and romantic news story, the most stimulating human-interest item, of the generation. We suspect that nothing since the terrible smash of the war headlines, not barring over the presidential election, has so appealed to the imagination and one cannot quite escape the hope that when the mystery is eventually solved the solution will prove sufficiently removed from the hum-drum to be in keeping with the story as it "broke".

Commissioner Tarbox has announced his intention of securing, if possible, a sufficient amount of money to run a water pipe from the new artesian well on Caledonia and St. James streets to the corner of Hagar and Rose, at which place he hopes a drinking fountain will be put in.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Palmer will leave La Crosse Monday for Montana to make their home.

THE TEA ROOM

By LAURA REID MONTGOMERY

Mary sat looking tranquilly from her chair by the great south window that looked down the village street. A serene smile played about her lips as she thought of the year that had just been finished. The occupants of the pretty rambling house on the corner of Main street and the Lincoln highway had grown steadily poorer, but the village had not known of this except in a vague way until the death of Mary's mother whose pension died with her. Then the whisper had gone about that Mary would be obliged to sell the house where she had lived her whole life, dismiss Aunt Chloe, whose faithful black hands had fired, handled her when she had been born and who had tended her ever since, have a sale of the fine walnut furniture and start life afresh.

"She has absolutely no income left, and she's too frail to work for any one," Miss Pansy had commented pitifully. "But she's so proud and aristocratic-like that no one dares ask her plans or try to help her."

"I'll bet Tyson wins this game," said Fred. But John answered that he did not think Tyson would. "Mary will play forward," announced the captain of the girls' football team. "Catherine guard, and Ethel end."

DOG LIKES A GOOD HOME AS MUCH AS A BOY OR GIRL DOES

Would you have your dog a real, honest-to-goodness pal? Well, he'll be that if you treat him like one. But dogs are something like elephants. If you wrong them once they never have the same good feeling for you. Below we are printing the first installment of a two-part article on keeping dogs. We hope the suggestions will be useful.

"Oh, anything is good enough for a dog," smartly declared a young man when his friend reproached him for not giving his pet, Fido, a good place to sleep. "Let him stretch out on the floor—it won't hurt him."

No wonder some dogs are neighborhood nuisances! If the animal hasn't a good home he certainly must get out and shift for himself and he is going to the neighbors' first to plead for help. "If you want your dog to be a real pal and not a bother to your neighbors, treat him fair and square."

Dog Likes a Good Bed

First give him a good place to sleep. "Anything" isn't good enough. Provide a kennel for your dog if he sleeps out-of-doors. It should be weather-proof, and of sufficient size to allow the dog to stretch out comfortably. For the average sized dog a kennel about twenty inches wide, almost a yard long and twenty-five inches high, is all right.

To keep the dampness out build the floor of the kennel several inches above the ground. A couple of two-by-four or some bricks make a good foundation. The kennel may be made of wood.

A bed for the dog that sleeps indoors can be made of a box about a foot high and large enough to give the dog plenty of room to curl up and sleep.

Clean Kennel Frequently

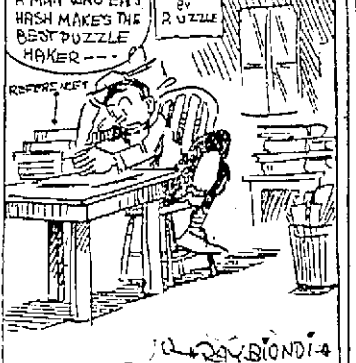

Keep the sleeping quarters very clean. White-wash the kennel once in a while and wash it out frequently with a hose if you have access to one. A good disinfectant may be sprinkled about, too.

Several handfuls of straw spread in the kennel will take the hardness out of the floor for the dog. Change this straw often and burn the old.

A soft piece of carpet serves the same purpose in the bottom of the indoor sleeping box. Keep this carpet very clean, too. Scold it frequently and scrub it hard with good soap and hot water. Be sure it is perfectly dry before you put it back in the box.

CIGAR BOX FIDDLES ARE EASY TO MAKE

While a cigar box fiddle does not make the sweetest and best music in the world it is entertaining and has been used successfully for that purpose on the stage and in homes, many many times.

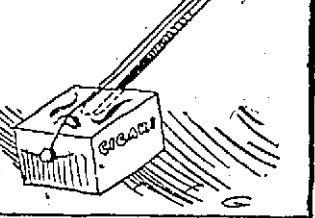

To make one, first get an old cigar box. Take the paper off it, and pull off the lid.

Plan a three foot broom handle in half. Smooth down the flat side with your knife and some sandpaper. In the top end of the stick, about two inches down, bore a small hole to receive a peg to which the string of the fiddle, which should be a "D" violin string, is fastened.

Cut a long notch in the other end of the stick so the lid of the cigar box fits on snugly and smoothly. The broom stick need extend only about half way along the length of the lid, as shown by the dotted lines in the illustration. Fasten the lid to the stick with brads. Center it on the broom handle. Be careful not to crack it.

In each side of the lid, using a sharp jackknife, cut two "S" shaped holes.

CIGAR BOX FIDDLE.

similar to those in a real violin. These slots should be about three inches long and the cut should be one quarter of an inch wide.

Before fastening the lid to the box cut a groove in the end of it to receive the rounded side of the broomstick. Then carefully tack on the lid.

In the bottom end of the box, directly in line with the end of the broom stick, bore a small hole into which another peg, this one about a half an inch long, is snugly fitted. Fasten the other end of the fiddle string to this peg.

A hand-made bridge to hold the string up should be placed on the lid of the box. It need not be glued or tacked.

All this done, the fiddle is ready for tuning. Tune it up to any note on the piano. A regular violin bow may be used in playing.

DENIALS

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

THE story is told among grocers and producers of foods that a few years ago, shortly after the national pure food law was enacted, the manufacturer of a product which had an established reputation began to advertise. "This product positively does not contain any benzoate of soda," it is stated on competent authority that from that day his sales began to fall off.

That is not so very strange. No one had ever accused him of putting benzoate of soda into his product; why should he be declaring himself innocent of an offense of which no one had ever accused him? Was there really something wrong with his product?

Another Case

People began to buy other kinds. The very assurance that his food did not contain benzoate of soda suggested behind your tall black iron fence, but now that you've thrown your gates open to the world and dispensed cheer through the sport of your fat blue teapot I feel that I should benefit also."

The Dresden-china pink in the cheeks of Miss Mary became a swift crimson. "You like to joke," she murmured with a little catch in the voice she essayed to keep firm. It seemed to her that the deepening dusk had become golden with promise. "May I give you a cup of tea?"

"No," he decided with a sudden consciousness in his voice. "It's taken me a long time to find out that you're not a recluse at heart; Pansy tells me that you actually borrowed some tobacco from her. I don't want a haughty princess, Mary, but I do want a wife. The gates are open now. Want to come?"

Aunt Chloe, approaching with a question on her friendly lips, stopped short, looked a moment with joyful comprehension on her loyal face, then tiptoed away.

MONTANA GIRL IS NAMED RANGER IN YELLOWSTONE PARK

Student in State College First Woman Named to this Position

BOZEMAN, Mont.—Miss Marguerite Lindsley, a junior student in Montana State college here, is the first woman ever to be named as ranger in Yellowstone National park. Word of her appointment has been received here.

Miss Lindsley is anticipating no difficulty in pointing out to tourists the beauties and the wonders of the government playground, however, for the geysers and the hot springs are as familiar to her as the drinking fountains and the fire plugs are to many a city dweller. She is on terms of acquaintance with most of the birds and the beasts, and knows every hill and valley in the big reserve.

The new ranger's father, C. A. Lindsley, is assistant superintendent of the park and has been connected with the government service there for 26 years. Miss Lindsley has spent every summer of her life in the park.

TURKISH ASSEMBLY VOTES TO ABANDON FEZ AS HEADRESS

Decide to Substitute the "Kalpak" as an Economical Reform

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The National Assembly in Ankara has decided that the fez is no longer to be the National headress of the Turk. By unanimous vote it was agreed that the "kalpak" should replace it, as the uniform covering for the head of all troops, officials and Turkish subjects generally.

The principal argument in favor of this reform, which eliminates one of the most characteristic and picturesque features of Turkish attire, was an economical one. The Turks have never been able to manufacture fezes that compared in price or quality with those manufactured abroad, especially in Austria, where there were several large factories which turned out millions of these articles.

The "kalpak" can be manufactured in Turkey, but it can hardly be considered an improvement on the old fez. It is made of black cloth or felt, and is much the same shape as the fez only flatter and broader, as it does not taper. Neither is really a very practical form of head-gear, because they are warm and afford little protection against rain and none from the glare of the sun. The fez was bright and lent color to any assembly. Its successor is sombre, uninteresting and on the whole rather depressing.

DETROIT, Mich.—The executive committee of the socialist party met here Friday to complete plans for the party's national convention which opens Saturday. Approximately six delegates are expected.

The principal fight is brewing over the question of international relations with at least five widely divergent resolutions listed in the convention agenda.

The left wing radicals will make their fight on affiliation with the third international of Moscow without reservations on the terms laid down by the Russian soviets. The extreme right is expected to any international affiliations and in-between are groups supporting modified union with the bolsheviks or negotiations with the Vienna congress of socialist parties.

Heals Running Sores and Conquers Piles

Also Stops All Itching of Eczema Almost Immediately

"I felt it my duty to write you a letter of thanks for your wonderful Peterson's Ointment. I had a running sore on my left leg for one year. I began to use Peterson's Ointment three weeks ago and now it is healed."—A. C. Gilbrath, 121 Reed Street, Erie, Pa.

"I'd rather get a letter like that, says Peterson of Buffalo, than have John D. Rockefeller give me a thousand dollars. It does me a lot of good to be able to be of use to my fellow man.

For years I have been suffering through drugists a large box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 25 cents. The healing power in this ointment is marvelous. Eczema goes in a few days. Old sores heal up like magic. Piles that other remedies do not seem to even relieve are speedily cured.

It stops itching in five minutes and for sores and burns it is simply wonderful. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

"THE INSIDE OF THE CUP" SCORES

Exposing smug hypocrisy and telling a high dramatic and appealing story, "The Inside of the Cup," a powerful Paramount-Cosmopolitan picture, admirably produced, was presented before an appreciative audience at the Rivoli theater yesterday.

This is an excellent picturization of Winston Churchill's powerful novel which excited world-wide controversy on its publication seven years ago.

The theme is an excellent one and the story of human lives which the narrative unfolds, has been charmingly developed. The picture is one that will inspire thought as well as entertain. The company of players, too, is far above the average. The character of John Hodder, the rector, who exports the hypocrisy of his rich parishioners, is excellently portrayed by William P. Carleton. That of Allison Parr, the daughter of Edson Parr, a hypocritical financier, is finely presented by Edith Hallor. Kate Marey, a salesgirl, is captivatingly portrayed by Marguerite Clayton. The support is unusually clever, but special mention should be made of the work of David Torrence, Jack Bohn, Richard Carleton and Margaret Seddon.

"The Inside of the Cup" plays the balance of the week at the Rivoli.

"PRISONERS OF LOVE"—STRAND

Roy Stewart, who appears in support of Betty Compson in her first starring production, "Prisoners of Love" at the Strand today, is considered one of the most versatile leading men of the screen. He was born in San Diego, Calif., and after graduating from the University of

NICKY ARNSTEIN IS SENTENCED TO TWO YEARS IN U. S. PEN

Four Others also Given Similar Sentence in District of Columbia Court

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Julius W. (Nicky) Arnstein and four others were sentenced Friday to two years in the federal penitentiary by Justice Sides in the District of Columbia supreme court. They were convicted recently by a jury of conspiracy to bring stolen securities into the District of Columbia from New York in October, 1933.

Those sentenced with Arnstein were Isadore (Nick) Cohn of New York, and David W. Sullivan, Norman S. Bowles and Wilen W. Easterday, brokers of Washington. Arnstein and Cohn also were fined $5,000 each and Bowles was fined $5,000.

tory for the farmers, as does the filled milk law, prohibiting manufacture of condensed milk from oil compounds.

Labor gained few important victories. Increase in compensation for injuries from a maximum of 65 per cent of $20 per week to 65 per cent of $20 a week, was the most notable of changes in existing laws. Two platoon system in fire departments was provided for and child labor laws codified.

Establish Soldier Hospital

Commission government in counties was authorized by the legislature, which also voted favorably on the only big soldier proposal, the memorial hospital. Stringent laws for the regulation of rice were accepted.

The governor set forward a program for thirty-five definite recommendations to the legislature for acceptance. Of these nine have been incorporated into law, none of them involving important change in policies suggested by the governor in his first message.

Probably the most outstanding difference has been over surtax proposals which the legislature defeated each time they appeared either above or attached to the appropriation feature of some bill. By close votes in both houses, the surtax was killed when the Severson bill was indefinitely postponed, when the university and normal school bills weathered both houses without change, and when the teachers' retirement fund came through with a plain income tax attached.

Reject I. R. and R.

Refusal to accept the initiative, referendum and recall and the legislative recall of appointive officers, represented the most complete defeat the administration forces received on the question of policy. Immediately by the senate, the initiative and referendum was sent to the assembly, where it was killed. Senate amendment to the legislative recall caused Governor Blaine to veto it as meaningless.

The suggested changes in boards and commissions in order to eliminate and consolidate were refused by one or the other of the houses. Governor Blaine had asked that in the interests of better administration and economy, certain alterations be made, but the legislature judged otherwise.

The basic eight hour day recommended by the governor, improvement of unemployment through state work on highways, and improvement of conditions of work for railroad workers were all rejected.

Defeat Job Insurance

Unemployment insurance, backed by Senator Huber, administration leader, went down to defeat on a 12 to 14 vote after it seemed almost certain to go through the upper house. A similar fate met most other labor legislation of the session, the greater part of which met defeat in either one house or the other.

The governor's request for increase in inheritance taxes was granted by acceptance of the Arnold bill, doubling the rates. Personal property offset to the income tax, estimated to raise $1,000,000 annually, was killed in the assembly on numerous occasions, along with attempts to increase the exemption rate on incomes.

Prohibition was the center of a strenuous fight from the time the Matheson bill reached the assembly committee. After stormy sessions in its journey through both houses, the assembly refused to withdraw the measure for amendments on request of the governor, and was vetoed.

Fight Over Home Brew

Here for the first time during the session the governor and many of his followers parted company. Their differences on the question of home brew could not be reconciled even to the last of the session. Politics stepped to the fore in this contest, which will be heard of in the next election.

Educational reorganization was the kind of another fight that finally ended without definite results of any kind. Agitation started with the session for a complete change in the system of administration, doing away with the present hodge-podge organization and substituting a single board of education.

Then came the April election when John Callahan was chosen to succeed C. P. Cary. Immediately the move to bring about a change which would subordinate the superintendent of public instruction was stopped, and has since, in bill form, been lying dormant on the table.

Educational Bills Defeated

All suggestions for constitutional change permitting the abolition of the office of superintendent of public instruction as an elective office, and for an interim committee to study the educational situation have been sent to the legislative scrap-heap in one house or the other. Like fate met proposals to abolish the state board of education, and the state board of vocational education.

The teachers' retirement fund reorganization is an accomplishment of importance in education. In its present form the measure provides a stable pension system that is expected to do much in building up the teaching profession in the state.

The legislature has proceeded cautiously in all that it has done this session. There has been no hasty consideration of important proposals, with tax measures particularly subjected to close scrutiny, before finally going down to their death, as practically all of them did.

Insect Created a Dance

The tarantula is said to have derived its name from the town of Taranto, Italy, where this species of spider is said to be especially common. The graceful dance of the southern Italy, called the tarantella, is the only relic of the tarantism which in early days was supposed to have been produced by the bite of the tarantula. This was a dancing mania, nothing more or less, and the world eventually learned that its real cause was to be found in the epidemic then sweeping the country of an exaggerated hysterical condition, and not from madness and depression distributed into the system by the tarantula's poison.

TASK OF FIXING STATE BOUNDARIES NEARS COMPLETION

DULUTH, Minn.—Work of fixing the boundary line between Minnesota and Wisconsin from Rice's Point to the Falls of the St. Louis River, a distance of approximately 25 miles, is expected to be completed this week by the Wisconsin-Minnesota boundary line commission. This commission was appointed last fall by the U. S. supreme court to locate and monument the boundary line at this particular place. Surveying for the establishment of the line was begun last October. When the work is completed a report will be forwarded to the supreme court. When the court approves this report, the boundary line which has been in dispute for several years will be definitely settled.

drawn engaged in industry. Only those who have come in close contact with that great multitude have the intuition and the experience necessary to properly administer the laws particularly affecting this great mass of working men, women and children.

"Therefore, I submitted the name of Mr. Knutson because he is particularly qualified to deal with the problems constantly coming before the commission, with respect to which lawyers are not trained and whose vision is sometimes dimmed by reason of technical and unsupported theories.

"I do not perceive any just cause for the rejection of Mr. Knutson, simply because he happens to be a workman, engaged in a craft which highly develops the mind and those qualities so necessary to a complete and proper administration of all the functions of the industrial commission.

"I recognize the right of the senate to reject this nomination, but on the other hand, I believe it due the facts so that they might have an opportunity to pass on this nomination influenced only by the considerations for the most complete administration of the functions of the industrial commission.

"Respectfully submitted,
"JOHN J. BLAINE,
"Governor."

War's Effects on Dogdom

CONCILIATOR MEETS WITH WORKERS AND LISTMAN MILL HEADS

W. H. Rogers, Federal Mediator, Hearing Arguments on Both Sides; Seeking Settlement

Conference between the employees and employers of the Listman mill and W. H. Rogers, federal conciliator, are continuing Friday. Mr. Rogers arrived in La Crosse from Washington Thursday to seek an adjustment of the differences between the mill and the strikers.

The milling company seeks to reduce wages 18 per cent, claiming that at the present wage scale they are unable to produce flour here and compete with other millers in this territory at a profit. The employees agreed to a 10 per cent reduction. Unable to come to an agreement with the men the mill was closed.

BANDIT IS KNOCKED DOWN BY THE MAN HE TRIED TO ROB

GREEN VALLEY, Wis.—His demand for $50 from Claud S. Gallagher, cashier of the bank here, proved the Waterloo of John Cronburg, 18, who says his home is in New Holstein.

Cronburg walked into the bank and demanded the money from the cashier. Gallagher, the cashier, walked to where the would-be bandit was standing, hit him, knocking him down and taking away his gun. He was then arrested and taken to Shawano, Wis., and lodged in the county jail.

Cronburg said he had quarreled with his father on the farm where he lived and had left home to make his own way in the world. Being hungry and without funds he decided to get the money at the bank. He said he found the revolver while wandering in a lumber yard at Pulaski, near here. The district attorney of Shawano county has communicated with his father.

BLAINE HITS PLAN TO PERMIT ARTIFICIAL BLEACHING OF FLOUR

Votes Bill on Grounds that it Will Open the Way to Fraud and Deception

MADISON, Wis.—Governor Blaine vetoed the assembly bill permitting manufacture of artificially bleached flour on the ground that it would nullify the accomplishments which have resulted from the existing law prohibiting the use of chemicals in bleaching.

"The Wisconsin association of master bakers, consisting of a membership of about 300 bakers in the state, view with grave concern the efforts now being made to first open them chemically bleached flour," the governor says in his message.

"What may contain certain impurities and such wheat brings less price to the farmer, yet when such wheat is ground into flour and artificially bleached it may have the same appearance as the flour made from clean pure wheat. In view of these facts, the governor said, he deemed it his duty to disapprove the bill."

BELEFAST.—A troop train conveying soldiers from Belfast to Dublin was wrecked Friday at Abercromby near Dandah by the explosion of a Sinn Fein land mine. Two soldiers and one of the train guards were killed and many others were wounded.

Two special trains with soldiers and horses who had participated in the reception of King George and Queen Mary on the state opening of the Ulster parliament Wednesday had passed over the spot safely. The third train was wrecked at a steep embankment when the mine exploded, most of the carriages falling over the embankment. Physicians were rushed to the scene.

The Thor Ironing Machine is entirely automatic. There are no hand or foot levers to push or pull, a touch of one finger does everything. You start and stop the ironer, move the shoe into four different positions and change the speed of the roll, all by moving a small dial conveniently placed on the feed board.

It is as easy as turning on an electric light. A 100 per cent ironer.

The Thor Washing Machine does the family washing quickly, easily and at the lowest possible expense. It saves the hire of a wash-woman.

GOOD LUCK OMENS APPEARING AT THE CARPENTIER CAMP

Black Cat, Four-leaf Clovers and White Horse Make their Appearance

MANTHASSET, N. Y.—Omens of good luck have been seen in strange things appearing in the camp of Georges Carpentier.

A white horse with a star in its forehead, strayed from a nearby farm and found its way into Carpentier's barn. A faithful admirer of the challenger informed him that the coming of the animal boded good fortune. The horse got some oats and was sent home.

The next good sign came in the form of a black cat. It appeared at the front gate while Carpentier was standing there. It jumped to the fence post, arched its back against the fence, and then it disappeared. "It's good luck," exclaimed a boy in the road.

Best of all, Paul Journee, who got a kicking at the hands of Charlie Weinert in Brooklyn the other night, was wandering about the yard, eyes cast down. He stopped at a clover patch, became interested, picked a bunch and showed them to Motoreyele Policeman Metter, who officiates at the front gate.

"Why," said McGee, "four-leaf clovers mean nothing but good. Put them in your shoes and some in Georges' shoes and everything will be lovely on July 2."

That night somebody slipped a handful of four-leaf clovers into the challenger's boots.

Little is on the training program for Carpentier next week. The camp sparring stuff, now numbering six, of which Joe Jeannotte is the only heavyweight, will be bolstered by three men of over 200 pounds.

Trainer Wilson said today that the challenger would probably work every day excepting Sunday, until July 1. Plans have been made to protect the camp from the many visitors who call, determined to see Carpentier in action. Additional police have been employed.

CUT DOESN'T WORRY
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—While the cut over Dempsey's eye is apparently healed, the flesh beneath the scar will not be thoroughly healed by July 2, his trainers say. But Jack is not a profuse bleeder. Carpentier can't hurt it much.

TWO ARE HANGED FOR KILLING OF SAILOR IN CHICAGO RIOTING

Double Execution is Outcome of Abyssinian Riots a Year Ago

CHICAGO, Ill.—Grover C. Redding and Oscar McGavick were hanged together at 7:27 o'clock Friday morning for the killing of R. C. Rose, a sailor, in connection with the Abyssinian riots last June.

Both appeared cool when they walked on the scaffold.

Both slept during the night and Redding ate a hearty breakfast.

The so-called "Abyssinian riots" occurred on June 20, 1920, when a band of negroes led by Redding and others termed themselves "princes of Abyssinia" and connected with a mob, Wis., capitalized for $1,500,000.

movement for the return of negroes to Africa staged a parade. The parade concluded with a bonfire during which an American flag was burned. Rose was shot to death when sought to rescue the flag and in promiscuous firing which followed Joseph H. Hays was killed, and two others wounded.

Summer hotels and resorts have also reduced prices fifteen percent, it was declared.

LABOR CALLS FOR LAWS TO REGULATE PACKING INDUSTRY

Federation Council Directed to Take Steps to Secure Legislation

DENVER, Col.—The convention of the American Federation of Labor Thursday called upon congress to pass legislation to control the meat packing industry of the country. The legislation demanded provision for early acquisition by the railroads of the principal and necessary stock yards and of all refrigerator cars and special equipment cars used for transportation of meat and meat products; and a system of compulsory registration of all packers engaged in the meat packing industry. The executive council was instructed to take steps at once to secure the "prompt enactment of such legislation."

A resolution designed to give endorsement to bonds of the state of North Dakota and to the Nonpartisan league was referred to the international union, with recommendations for favorable action within the constitutional limitations of those organizations.

WOMEN DESCENDING TO MORAL LEVEL OF MEN SAYS SPEAKER AT MILWAUKEE MEETING DECLARES SHE HAS HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

MILWAUKEE.—Clara Burnside of Indianapolis, the only woman captain of police in the country, who is attending the Social work conference said Thursday that woman's morals are lower than ever. She declared she is not pessimistic, but regards the condition inevitable and has hope for the future.

"Women have demanded equal rights and privileges with men," she said. "Although indications are that instead of men coming up to women's moral standards, women have come down to men's, this is only the inevitable swing of the pendulum to extremes which occur before all great equalizations. The condition will not last and the future will be better for it."

Milwaukee today became the social center of the United States with the opening of the forty-eighth national conference of social work.

Up to noon nearly 2,000 delegates had registered. They will remain until next Wednesday.

Exhibits embracing the work carried on by scores of industrial institutions and societies have been installed so visitors may get a practical idea of the problems and how they are being solved.

No fewer than ten meetings were under way at one time during the day. First in importance on the program came the child issue. Observers were emphatic in declaring that this one field is the biggest and most important, due to the increasing earlier age at which girls and boys enter industrial work and get their first broad view of life.

The girl, they say, needs the greatest amount of attention because in exposing life so early she is forced to meet problems and temptations that in other generations she either never would have encountered or not until she was physically and mentally equipped.

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—The engineering department of the state highway commission reports that it is able to let contracts for road construction now, at prices considerably lower than was possible earlier in the season. Not only is material lower in price but labor can be had from one-fourth to one-third less than was paid last year. One hundred and fifty crews are now at work in the state building gravel roads, and sixty crews are at work on the 310 miles of concrete highway under contract.

An inquiry made by Joseph A. Becker of the co-operative crop reporting service of the state department of agriculture, of crop correspondents, show farm wages in Wisconsin to be much lower than last year. Year hands per month with board average $40.50, compared to $62 last year; without board, $38, compared to $54.50 last year. Farm hands hired by the month with board for the crop season average $44.50, compared to $71 last year; without board, $62 compared to $83 last year.

The annual meeting of the State Bar association will be held at Chippewa Falls June 23, 24 and 25. It is the purpose of the officers assisted by the members of the Chippewa bar to make this meeting in all ways one of the best ever held by the association. The principal speakers will be the Hon. Charles S. Cutting of Chicago, the Hon. Guy D. Goff of Washington, D. C., and Professor Frederic T. Paxson of the University of Wisconsin. Members are urged to bring their wives as the local committee desires to entertain them.

The industrial depression has had a very direct effect upon the child labor problem. Only about half as many child labor permits have been issued this year by the industrial commission as in 1920. In 1920 there were more children employed on child labor permits in Wisconsin than ever before in the history of the state. More than half of all children between 14 and 17 years of age in the city of Milwaukee were employed in industry during the winter of 1920, and in several other cities the percentage was nearly as great. At the present time large numbers of children who left school to enter industry are out of work. In March of this year there were 2900 children in Milwaukee between 14 and 17 years of age who were both out of school and out of work. Seven hundred of these had not completed the common school course, but, under the law, there was no way to compel them to go back to school.

Dr. J. S. Healy, in charge of the work for the state department of agriculture, reports that due to a lack of both indemnity and administrative funds it has been necessary to curtail the activities of the accredited herd project to the extent of reducing the force and also confining our activities to the herds already under supervision. Still a large amount of work was accomplished; 326 lots containing 8,866 cattle were tested during the month of May; 58 fully accredited herds were added to the list during the month of May, giving up a total of 755 tuberculosis free accredited herds and 1,225 herds having passed slight prospect of it reaching earth. for the senate refused to recede from its position. Then on Friday the senate gave the finishing blow to the last of the five one-man commission bills introduced by the special committee, by non-concurring in the bill to turn the conservation commission over to one warren. What was known as the first bill for taxing automobiles for highway purposes was voted down in the assembly on Friday afternoon, after a warm debate. A motion to reconsider will be up this week, so the bill may yet be saved. Owing to a deadlock between the two houses over the governor's dry bill and the new marketing bill, the prospect for final adjournment of the legislature this month are not bright.

The state's supervision of registered nurses, formerly held by the state board of health, then for several years by the state board of medical examiners, is now restored to the health board by passage of legislation now effective. The law provides for the appointment of a committee on nursing education, which shall nominate, for appointment by the state board of health, a state director of nursing education on or before September 1. Until that date, any trained nurse who has completed the required training in the legislature. The teachers' retirement bill was passed and will go to the governor. The senate knocked out the home-brew feature of the governor's so-called "dry" bill, and the amendment. The examinations which had been scheduled for June 21 have been cancelled. The old examining board has been abolished, and a new board is provided for, to be appointed by the state board of health upon the nomination of the committee on nursing education.

The state department of insurance is one of the administrative departments which brings into the state treasury more than it costs the state to carry it on. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, it cost the state about $52,000 to carry on this department, but during the same period the department collected and turned into the state treasury $1,250,000.

Curious System of Numeration
The Indians of Guiana have a curious system of numeration. They count by the hand and its four fingers. Thus, when they reach five, instead of saying so, they call it a "hand." Six is therefore a "hand and first finger"; seven, a "hand and second finger." Ten is "two hands," but twenty instead of being "four hands," is a "man." Forty is "two men," and thus they go on by twenties. Forty-six is expressed as "two men, a hand, and first finger."

Astronomers Require Enthusiasm
Admiral J. A. Hoegeworth, superintendent of the naval observatory in Washington, has trouble getting astronomers at $1,000 or $1,200 a year, which is the amount allowed for some of the young assistants who gaze nightly at the stars. They work in a cold observatory all through the winter and the admiral says their physical sufferings are often great.

They have to be enthusiasts in their profession. The admiral recently received an application from a man who had no qualifications whatever, but when he was told of the amount paid for the services of an assistant he turned up his nose and said he could make much more at his trade, that of a plumber.

Gentle Hint
"I say, Nell, I was reading that there are 60 different ways of cooking potatoes."
"I've heard so but boiled—"
"Well, don't you think it would be exciting to try one of the other 59 ways once just as an experiment?"

A golf stick is now made with interchangeable heads so that the needs sity of carrying around a lot of clubs is obviated.

"Hear what happened at the club, George?"

"The boys put across that plan for a smoker Tuesday night week. And the meeting voted to pass 'round only Adlon cigars. Some boost for your favorite smoke, isn't it?"

"I'll say it is! But, then, nearly every member of the club is an Adlon customer."

"I guess you're right, George. Adlon seems to be the official club smoke. I've heard 'Have an Adlon' at least a dozen times in the last few hours. How do you do it, George?"

"There's no secret about it—except the Adlon blend. Not another like it anywhere. It took 500 tests of different tobaccos to get this rare combination of rich, full-flavored tobaccos.

"Adlon is a different cigar, created after many years' study of the tobacco taste of discriminating smokers.

"It's a mild Havana filler and Sumatra wrapper cigar. No cigar at any price is produced with more exacting attention to detail.

"There are no 'gums' in Adlon to impair its quality. They're removed by an exclusive process. Adlon is all tobacco from end to end.

"In all my years handling cigars—you know I started at the cigar-maker's bench—I've never smoked any cigar so satisfying, so smooth and so delightfully fragrant as Adlon.

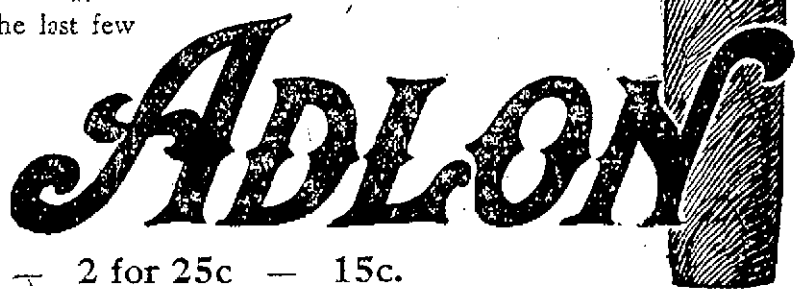

"Is it any wonder, then, that Adlon, with all these distinctions, should be the smoke-choice of men who use discrimination in the selection of their cigars?"

You can get Adlon—the best cigar you can buy—from any good dealer.

MISS RUTH COPPIN BECOMES THE BRIDE OF HOWARD GLEASON

A BANK OF GREENERY formed a pleasing setting for the taking of the vows Thursday night at the First Presbyterian church, when Rev. Claude R. Shaver, pastor of the church, read the lines which united in marriage Ruth Coppin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Coppin, and Mr. Howard W. Gleason of Lansing, Michigan. The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Bramwell as maid of honor, and the Misses Viola Martin and Anna Nation as bridesmaids. The little flower girls were the Misses Catherine Rochester and Thelma Newman.

At half-past six the organist, P. E. Redhead, played Lohengrin's Processional, the choir singing in an antiphonal, "O Promise Me," to the strains of which the bride party appeared, of which the bride party consisted of the two bridesmaids leading, followed by the maid of honor. Then came the flower girls and the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Fred Scholtz, Messrs. Richard Taylor and Ralph Singleton of Camp Douglas, were the groomsmen and the Misses Dorothy Hensleben, Frances Duly, Alice Wedeking and Gertrude Jansky were the ushers. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Stella Trane sang, "Faithful and True," and following Miss Trane again sang, "Love's Old Sweet Song." Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the procession left the church.

At the home of the bride's parents, 1219 Jackson street, a wedding dinner was served to the bride party and the near relatives. Later a small reception was held when club members and relatives were guests.

At the dinner the guests were seated at two tables, which were decorated by an arrangement of pink roses, blue lilies and a mixture of other flowers. This was encircled by four smaller vases, which were decorated by pink ribbon festoons, and at either end of the tables were pink tapers.

The decorations at the church were an arrangement of palms and ferns enhanced by the feathery bloom of spirea, which formed a background for the bride party. The choir and altar rail were also dressed in harmony, the whole being a dainty woodsy bower most attractive for the occasion. At the house palms were also used calveed by a variety of cut flowers.

The bride wore a handsome gown of ivory white satin, cut short and round with pearl trimmings. Her veil was in cap effect with a sweeping court train, and was fastened with a pearl bandeau. She carried a shower of Ophelia roses and white sweet peas.

The maid of honor wore silver tulle over pink satin, with hat to match. Her bouquet was roses and pink sweet peas. Miss Martin's gown was of lavender tulle over golden taffeta and hat to match. Her bouquet was Columbia roses and lavender sweet peas. Miss Nation wore lavender tulle over pink taffeta, and hat to match. Her flowers were the same as Miss Martin's. The little flower girls wore ruffled white organdie frocks and carried white bouquets. The bride's going-away costume was of black taffeta with open work embroidery over tulle. Her hat was transparent.

Mr. and Mrs. Gleason left on a short honeymoon trip in the east and in August will enjoy an auto tour, including some parts of Canada, on their way to Lansing, Mich., where they will reside. The bridegroom is director of physical education in the high school of that city.

THE CLOSING EVENT in the long series of most delightful pre-nuptial affairs which have been given in honor of Miss Gertrude Ingham and Mr. Frederick Soule, who are to be married Saturday night, was a motor trip to Coon Valley Thursday night. Here seven couples enjoyed a delectable repast at Ye Valley Inn, which was served in the daintiest fashion. This inn has the air of having been modeled after some of the foreign lodges for the entertainment of travelers. Ye Valley Inn has recently been opened, and has for its hostesses Miss Magdalena Pether and Miss Lillie Spillum. Light lunches and more elaborate meals are also served. The surroundings are most attractive and the party spent a very enjoyable evening. A corsage bouquet marked the place of the bride-elect.

CONVICTED NEGRO THROWS INKWEED AT PROSECUTOR

MADISON, Wis.—When informed in circuit court here Thursday that he was sentenced to four years at Waupun for forgery, Matt Curry, negro, picked up an ink well and hurled it at District Attorney Theodore Lewis, who had prosecuted him. He narrowly missed his mark.

The prisoner in learning of the sentence turned and asked the judge if he might have something to say. He was refused and immediately let the ink well fly. Attendants overpowered him.

Experts have estimated that all worth $3,500,000 which has been wasted around old gashers can be recovered by distillation.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis.—Sheboygan county authorities are searching for a big automobile, with yellow lenses in the headlight, which according to the police, collided with a roadster on Highway 28, half way between here and Plymouth about midnight Thursday night, resulting in the death of George Yonckevicz, driver of the roadster, serious injury to John Sommersberger of Plymouth who was with him, and the complete burning of the car. The roadster was ditched. District Attorney Voigt and Sheriff Koehn said they have a good description of the car, which did not stop, according to the injured man.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

The county Holstein breeders' picnic held at the county school grounds June 14, was quite well attended, even though the weather was bad all the afternoon. The picnic was held at home, but all those present had a good time.

At about 2:30 Alfred Nuttman, president of the association, introduced Frank Everson, well known Holstein breeder of Lake Mills, Wis., who gave a short talk on Holstein activities. Mr. Everson emphasized the importance of every breeder lending his hearty co-operation, through the local and state association. After the program several pictures were taken of the crowd. Then someone suggested that the ladies play against the men in a game of indoor baseball. The ladies being in a sympathetic mood that day thought that they did not care to show their husbands up too badly, so they decided that it would be best for the men to play that indoor ball game among themselves. After considerable wrangling about who was who, Mr. Hatch and Mr. McDonald were persuaded to elect sides, and soon a fast and exciting game was in progress. A number of sensational plays were made, especially around third base, when the ball would find its way up in that burl oak tree. Mr. McDonald's team furnished the umpire, and Mr. Hatch's team the scorekeeper. The errors and scores were too numerous to mention. Mr. Thomas made a three base hit and because he ran across the diamond from first to third base without the umpire seeing him, he claimed to be the best base runner on the grounds. All those who failed to attend this picnic missed a good time.

Duro-Jersey Breeders' Picnic. The annual picnic of the Duro-Jersey breeders of the state will be held at the agricultural school grounds at Onalaska, June 25.

The La Crosse county Duro-Jersey breeders will entertain those outside the county and everyone in the county is cordially invited to attend—all farmers and breeders whether interested in Duros or not. All we ask is that you bring your dinner and a little extra as in that way we will help feed the outsiders. Bring as few dishes as possible, as dishes will be furnished, also coffee with trimmings and ice cream will be furnished free. This is to be an old fashioned picnic where everything will be put on a 200-foot table and everybody take part. Tables will be set outdoors, weather permitting. If showery, they will be set inside.

The program is as follows:

- 10 a. m.—Music by the band.
- 11 a. m.—General introduction.
- 11:30 a. m.—Address of welcome by Mayor Coleman of Onalaska; response by John L. Fisher of Janesville.
- 12 m.—Picnic dinner and music.
- 1 to 2:30 p. m.—Speeches by several prominent speakers.
- 2:30 p. m.—Ball game, Onalaska and Bangor.

Besides the band there will be a six-piece jazz orchestra in attendance and you can dance, watch the ball game or hear speeches as you like. Something doing all the time. All entertainment free. Come and make it the biggest picnic ever. Put La Crosse county on the map.

Shorthorn Breeders' Meeting. The Shorthorn breeders held a special meeting at West Salem Monday evening, at which a special effort was made to push the Shorthorn calf club. Several of the best breeders agreed to sell high class calves to boys or girls who will fit them for exhibit.

At the present price of milk there is a chance to get more money per 100 lbs. for milk when fed to good baby beef calves than marketed under the present system on most farms.

Last winter the price of beef cattle was low, but at the junior livestock exposition held at Madison six of the big packers had their buyers there to buy all of the beef calves at public auction. The average price paid was 22c per pound and the lowest price was 16c. The packers are always on the job to buy these good show animals for these reasons:

1. To encourage the growing of high quality beef animals.
2. To encourage boys and girls in beef club work.
3. These fancy beefs are used for big banquets where plates sell at from $5 to $15 per plate, so the packers do not lose any money.

The excellent prizes offered by the Interstate fair this year should be an inducement to every boy or girl to try for it:

First prize—Beef calf, $100 value, and a free Wilson trip to the international livestock show and Grain show in Chicago.

Second prize—One free Wilson trip to Chicago.

Third prize—One free Wilson trip to Chicago.

Fourth prize—One free Wilson trip to Chicago.

There is nothing we would enjoy more than to have four boys or girls from La Crosse county win these fine prizes in addition to owning a fine and valuable animal. If interested in a good calf, let us hear from you at once.

Potato Bugs. To prevent leafhopper, potato bugs, flea beetles and blight on potatoes spray when they are six or eight inches high or whenever any of these pests appear and repeat every one or two weeks as needed.

One of the best treatments is as follows: Use prepared dry Bordeaux mixture, 7 to 9 pounds, and powdered arsenate of lead to two or three pounds in 50 gallons of water, or in garden proportions.

Arsonate of lead (powdered), 1½ oz. (12 level tablespoons) and prepared Bordeaux mixture (powdered), 6 oz. (24 level tablespoons) to each gallon.

Arsonate of lead is a rank poison and will kill all eating insects and the Bordeaux is valuable for controlling many leaf diseases, as apple scab and potato blight. The active agent in Bordeaux is an insoluble salt of copper and lime which makes a film over the leaves. It's a preventive, not a cure.

bill would cause a political upheaval similar to that resulting from the Bennett bill when governor Board was swept out of power on the foreign language issue, was hinted at by Assemblyman Dahl in opposition to the bill.

"I am amazed that the gentleman from Barron should hold a political threat over our heads simply because we favor a bill for Americanism," said Assemblyman Matheson. "I will vote for the bill without fear of political consequences."

AMUSEMENT PLACES IN GERMANY DOING A RECORD BUSINESS

Cities Quiet by Day, But Citizens are Out for a Good Time by Night

HEAVY GAMBLING REPORTED AT GERMAN RACE TRACKS

People Greater Movie Fans than Americans

By MILTON BRONNER

BERLIN—Serious races are so common in Germany, that if anyone laughed out loud on the street it would probably cause comment.

The American traveling around Germany is struck by the gravity of the people he sees on the streets, in the cars and in the shops.

It would be easy to generalize and say that since they lost the war, the Germans have forgotten how to smile.

But that would be to write down as profound an error as many others that are written about Germany.

The night tells a different story from the day. When the dark comes the German seeks his amusement. He looks for some place where he may laugh and—forget.

As a result there has never been a time in Germany when there were so many theaters, cabarets, dance halls, concerts and movie houses. To this must be added the exhibition of gymnastic work and the race tracks.

The theaters which are putting on gay light operas are the ones that are doing the best business.

The vaudeville houses have their devotees, but singularly enough for a nation that is so devoted to music there is comparatively little dancing and singing in the vaudeville programs.

The programs in the vaudeville theaters are largely made up of athletic and acrobatic stunts. Deprived of the right to have a big army, Germany's youth is going in for athletics more than ever. It is reflected in these vaudeville programs.

The cabarets do not differ from those to be found in any country where eating, drinking and smoking are allowed.

One thing that strikes the visitor is the comparative poverty with which many of the shows are put on. The old splendid social investment for which German theaters were famous is a thing of the past.

Lastly there are the movies. I used to think Americans were film fans par excellence, but Germany has us beat.

The other evening it was announced that at the Ufa Palace in Berlin there would be the first public showing of "Danton," a massive film story about the French revolution.

The theater seats more than 3000 people and I went early. The lobby was filled with disappointed people, over every ticket office there was the sign "Ausverkauft," "sold out." Not a ticket to be had. But I got one.

Germans are not behind America when it comes to ticket speculation. Theater signs of the Germans' mad pursuit of amusement excitement—and fortune—is the great amount of gambling on the races, not only those that are run in this country, but on French and English races.

There are twice as many theaters and three times as many hotels in New York as there are in London.
